PROFILE

Steve Day is a highly accomplished professional with a robust background in organizational leadership and operational management. He holds a Bachelor of Arts from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and a Certificate in Organizational Leadership from Harvard Business School Online.

Steve's career has been marked by significant roles in various industries, where he consistently delivered revenue growth and organizational improvement. He began his journey with Coca-Cola Bottling Co. and Pepsi Bottling Group, leading sales and distribution initiatives that substantially increased volume, market share, and profitability. His expertise in building company-owned sales and distribution systems was further demonstrated at Red Bull North America and Big Red, Inc.

Transitioning to the nonprofit sector, Steve served as the Executive Director in full-time ministry over the past 10 years. Steve's positive impact was instrumental in this non-profit segment where he managed substantial operating budgets and played a crucial role in financial stewardship and human resources leadership.

At Lee & Associates, Steve applies his extensive experience to enhance organizational effectiveness and lead strategic initiatives, ensuring the firm's continued growth and success in the Greenville/Spartanburg area.
